County Tax Saving Far Above Average

A report made by the State Board of Equalization compiled from county auditors' reports, reveals the fact that whereas the average real estate and personal property tax saving per hundred dollars valuation for the state, under the new Sales tax plan, is 90 cents, Nevada county's actual reduction in the tax burden is $1.56 per hundred dollars valuation.

All but four counties while reducing their rates also reduced assessed valuations, to that the actual saving in taxes, runs as high as $1.84 in Imperial county.

The total tax reduction in Nevada county amounts to the gross sum of $92,839.

The assessed valuation of non-operative property (whicch means property other than that of the utilities, which pay taxes to the state and not to the county) was also lower this year in Nevada county. In 1932 the assessed valuation was $6,120,015 as compared $6,096,645 this year, a reduction of $23,370. Utility assessed valuations which do not affect loccal taxation, were somewhat increased.

Total taxes to be raised last year amounted to $202,293 as against $119,417 this year. The Sale tax takes care of that big difference.

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 21—(UP)—California's county tax bills for the coming year will be reduced by a grand total of $40,928,435, the state board of equalization reported today.

This saving, brought about through adoption of the Riley-Stewart plan and subsequent enactment of the state sales tax, exceeds all advance estimates by nearly $3,000,000 according to the board. The figures were compiled from reports of the county auditors throughout the state and were based on new tax rates and new assessed valuation rolls for the 1933-34 fiscal year.

Common property owners, such as farmers, howeowners and business men, will find the huge tax saving reflected in the tax bills they will receive the first Monday in next November, the report said. Thousands of other citizens will benefit, through easing of the burden on personal property as well as real estate under operation of the Riley-Stewart plan, it was stated.

The average saving in county tax rates for the new year amounts to 99 cents per $100 of assessed valuation, according to the report. This was made possible by shifting part of the local school costs to the state in the new tax setup. These costs will be defrayed with funds collected from the retail sales tax.

Taking decreased property valuations into consideration, however, net tax reductions in some instances were lower than actual reductions, said the report. Because of economic conditions, the assessed valuations, as reported by the county auditors, showed a decrease of $746,495,379. Los Angeles county alone reported a decrease of $441,379,455 in property aluation.

Other large reductions in county assessed aluation included: San Francisco, $43,155,165; Alameda $47,057,454; San Bernardino, $15,447,660; San Diego, $24,192,685; San Joaquin, $19,927,110; Kern, $12,983,030, and Fresno $12,616,905.

Reducing their rates by $1.60, San Bernardino and Trinity counties showed the greatest actual reduction in tax burden per $100 aluation. The smallest actual reduction was reported from Plumas county, which reduced its rate 40 cents per $100 valuation.

Net reductions, after allowance for decreased valuation was made, however, showed the drop of $1.84 in the Imperial county rate, for taxes within incorporated limits, and a like reduction in the county levy outside incorporated areas to be the largest reported for any county.

CARAVAN FINDS PLENTY OF GOOD WILL IN SIERRA

The good will caravan from Nevada county to Sierra county returned Wednesday after two days of communion with the hospitable residents, business folk and bonifaces of the great Yuba pass thoroughfare and some its exhilerating and scenic by-ways .

In the party were: Jack Wolff, Judge Raglan Tuttle, Stuart Chalmers, F. F. Cassidy, R. J. Bennetts, M. Henry Argall, Archie Rowen, E. George, Earl Coey, Superisors C. Arbogast and E. B. Dudley, John Tognerelli, Alfred Kramm, Glen DeYoe, F. E. Conner, Del Powell, Ernest Schrieber, N. L. Foote. Al Goddard representing the State Chamber of Commerce was a member of the party.

The caravan visited Columbia Hill, from there over the Foote road it proceeded to Alleghany, where Ray Hawkins was host, thence to Forest City, where another visit was made, and finally to Downieville where a hearty lunch was thoroughly enjoyed.

In the afternoon the good will motor cavalcade took the new pleasant highway into Sierra City, a 13-mile stretch of modern mountain roads that everyone thoroughly enjoyed. Dinner at the Sierra City hotel featured abundance of fried trout and impromptu speaches by Judge J. Nugent of Loyalton, Arthur Pride of Sierra City, Jack Wolff, Judge Raglan Tuttle, M. Henry Argall, R. J. Bennetts, Supervisors E. B. Dudley and Cary Arbogast, Fred F. Cassidy, and Al Goodard of Sacramento, representing the State Chamber of Commerce.

Attention was called to the fact that twenty men, without employmen in Sierra Ciy, could be given work at once, if the $130,000 set aside by the Federal government for the improvement of the Gold Lake were made available immediately. The necessity of reducing the number of sharp curves in the Downieville road was also discussed. In this connection, Al Goddard declared that this improvement would have the whole-hearted backing of the State and Sacramento chambers of commerce.

State Forester M. B. Pratt declared that for the two past years the damage done by forest fires had been greatly reduced, in 1932 by establishing a fire fighting force on a steady payroll basis, and this year by utilizing the services of the C. C. C. camps.

Returning home, the entire delegation yesterday sounded praises for the splendid hospitality accorded them all along the route.

TRICKSEY 27 YEAR OLD STAGE HORSE IS DEAD

Tricksey, gallant old stage horse, 27 years of age, is dead. She died as a result of falling in a ditch. She was once the property of Uncle Dan, and when he died he left Tricksey to the care of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. Torpie. Tricksey was sleek and fat in spite her years and poor teeth. She wandered happily about the pasture, enjoyed the splendid view, and contently switched flies from her brown bay flanks. Then on Saturday, it is believed as she sauntered along beside an irrigating ditch she slipped and fell into it. Attempts to get out were beyond her strength. In forty eight hours she was missed and search resulted in finding her exhausted and resigned to death. Tenderly the old horse was lifted out by Tom Torpie and his neighbors. But she could not rise. Physicians called, declared that she was partly paralyzed. A bullet mercifully ended her life.

TASKER L ODDIE VISITS NEV. CITY

Oddie is deeply interested in mining and while here examined several properties that have been offered for sale.

This was the first visit of the Nevada mining man and his wife to this city and they were much delighted with it.

MARRIED MEN FAVORED IN N R A REEMPLOYMENT

The following letter has been received by the N. R. A. county chairman and in order that it may thoroughy be understood, it is published in full.

To C. E. Clinch
County Supervisor, NRA
Grass Valley, Calif.

Dear Mr. Clinch:

The agreement cited below is sent to you for your information and guidance. I think it very important indeed that the communities in your county be induced to set up an Unemployment Registration Bureau, with the purpose to see that employers give preference to Californians and to heads of families.

Sincerely,
GEORGE CREEL
Chairman, District Recovery Board National Recovery Administration.

The copy of the ordinance follows:

"The San Francisco Unemployment Registration Bureau, a city agency designed to register the names of all bona fide unemployed San Francisco residents, is doing a necessary and valuable work. I am recommending to NRA leaders that they have similar bureaus established in every California community.

"I am forwarding copies of the legislation creating San Francisco's Bureau to all county chairmen urging them to bring the matter immediately before all Boards of Supervisors and City Councils.

"As we begin active work on the various projects receiving NRA fund aid, these various Bureaus can cooperate helpfully with the Federal Re-employment service.

"Employers will be asked to give preference in hiring new help, to capable heads of families who are bona fide residents of their particular communities.

"I wish to point out that the fact that a man or woman is registered with one of these Bureaus by no means necessarily indicates he or she is on relief."

To The Employers of Labor in Nevada County:

In compliance with the above request, I have recommended for appointment W. W. Esterly of the Grass Valley Chamber of Commerce. John W. O'Neill of Nevada City.

C. E. CLINCH
County Supervisor, NRA.

WEST NEWTOWN MAKES STRIKE

Bosworth and Clinch, operating the West Newtown mine, reported yesterday that they had encountered a 3-foot ledge showing excellent ore in a drift 20 feet west of the seventy foot shaft. It is stated that the ore is almost exactly like that of the Empress mine. The property lies a half mile west of the Empress and about three fourths of a mile east of the Grass Valley Premier, or the Keystone Divide, as it is now called.

Dry Repeal May Again Force Extra Session

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 21—(UP)—Avowedly unsympathetic with any present move to convoke a special session of the legislature, nevertheless Governor James Rolph, Jr., may be compelled to bring the legislators to untangle various and sundry problems of state.

Quite naturally, the less the governor sees of the legislature, the better he'll like it. For this particular legislative body repudiated the chief executive as no other group of solons had done in the state's history.

Day by day, reasons for calling another special session are increasing. Summarized, to date, they are:

1 Just as soon as the 18th amendment is repealed—if such comes to pass—hard liquor, wines and beer will be tax free insofar as the state is concerned. Even 3.2 beer will be exempt, for the simple reason there won't be any 3.2 beer. Thus the state would not only lose potential liquor revenue but also $750,000 annually in present beer taxes. That alone would be sufficient to convoke the legislature.

2 The budget is still between $30,000,000 and $40,000,000 out of balance. Some believe it should be balanced; others maintain it should stay in the red.

3 Sales tax difficulties might necessitate a special session. Administrative problems of the new levy have piled up so fast that many are of the opinion it will require a legislature to revise the law and thus smooth out administrative obstacles. Also, don't forget there is still a sales tax repeal association and that the initiative movement against the measure might succeed.

4 If the courts hold State Controller Ray Riley is right in refusing to approve emergency fund diversions to certain state departments, it may be necessary to ask the legislature for additional funds. Such agencies as social welfare, narcotics division, bureau of criminal identification and others, claim they must have more money or lose their efficiency and effectiveness.

Such legislature leaders as Assemblyman Lawrence Cobb, Los Angeles, declare the legislature would not authorize another cent's state expenditure. Nor would it approve increased taxation.

"We'd probably come back and bear down on economy," Cobb predicted. "We only scratched the surface last time."

SAYS CRITICS OF SALES TAX ARE AGITATORS

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 21—(UP)—Charging that misrepresentation and criticism of the State Sales Tax is coming largely from "agitators and tax-dodgers, who are now, for the first time, carrying their just share of the load," Fred E. Stewart, Member of the State Board of Equalization, declared in a radio address tonight that sweeping reductions in property taxation during the coming year will afford complete justification of Sales Ley.

Stewart, co-sponsor, with State Controller Ray L. Riley, of the Riley-Stewart tax relief plan, emphasised that no additional revenues are being raised by the Sales Tax, but that 6,000,00 citizens are now paying $38,000,000 in annual school costs formerly carried by 750,000 over burdened home-owners, farmers and business men.

TAX SUPPORTS SCHOOLS

"The sales tax you are paying today," asserted Stewart, "is for new government—not for added government. It is for the support of our children in the public schools. And there is every likelihood that California's public schools would have been completely clossed today, as a result of a general tax strike, if relief had not been granted to the owner of real estate through passage of the sales tax.

"Remember this when you are inclined to be irriatated by the payment of your tax pennies to the corner store. Remember it, again, when tax-dodgers and agitators—who are now forced to pay their share of the tax bill—attempt to discredit the sales tax."

The substantial relief afforded to agriculture and business through a lessening of the crushing burden of property taxation, said Stewart, has already stimulated "a much needed business expansion to create jobs for unemployed workers."

TAX ALWAYS UNPOPULAR

"Taxation, admittedly, is never popular," Stewart continued, "and the sales tax is no exception to this rule. Most of us expect a great deal in the way of service and protection from government, but it seems to be a universal trait of human nature to grumble about paying for it.

"But all of us, I believe, realize that the emergencies of the present period, both in private life and in government, require that we face realities—even unpleasant realities, like taxation—with courage and intelligence. If you are willing to shut down California's public school system, then the sales tax is unnecessary. But if you want your youngsters, as I want mine, to have an education, then the time has come for both of us to pay for it without grumbling—in the only way available."

REAL ESTATE OVERBURDENED

Citing the fact that common property, with an ability to earn less than 28 per cent of the State's income, was paying 75 per cent of the tax bill before passage of the Riley-Stewart plan and substitution of the Sales Tax to partially defray school costs, Stewart declared that tax delinquencies and tax-confiscation had mounted to a point where collapse of the whole structure would have resulted if relief had not been granted.

"No one, I am sure, wanted to tax the necessities of life—foodstuffs and clothing—if it could be avoided," Stewart declared. "But the Legislature confronted this practical problem: Foodstuffs and clothing make up the bulk of all purchases; if they had been exempted from the tax, it would have been necessary to impose an exorbitant and entirely unjust tax rate on practically every other item sold. And even then it was exceedingly doubtful that the tax would raise sufficient money to carry the load and keep open California's public schools."

WHAT NEWS?

Henry Ford's no longer news,
Aimee's off the map,
And for Ma's great "What a Man,"
No one cares a rap;
Old Depression slinks away—
Hasn't got a friend;
Cuban revolutions now
Just lie end to end.

Wet and dry elections now,
Go their well known way,
Beer and pretzels seem a part
Of each normal day;
Racketeers have lost their zip—
Can't produce a thrill;
What's a poor news hound to do?
Tell me if you will.

Well, New York in joyous mood
Staged a grand display
That should furnish food for thought
As we go our way;
When we work as oft we play,
In accord—together,
We can make our Better Days,
And produce good weather.

Trivial things and lesser folk
Cause no thrills today;
We're too busy keeping up
With the N. R. A.

There is no such word as fail,
When each loyal heart
Hears and heeds his country's call
And then does his part.

MEAN BURGLAR ROBS HOOVERVILLE RESIDENT

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 21—(UP)—Admitting that business isn't what it might be, it must be even worse than that with the burglars, according to local police.

The comment resulted when Pete Stevens, prominent resident of "Hooverville," near here, reported his home had been ransacked and looted. He wanted the criminal tracked down.

Home owners at Hooverville up to the present time have believed themselves immune from the activities of burglars because their homes, built and furnished with drift wood and tin cans, really contained nothing worth stealing.

"I will not be responsible for any member of my family who takes stomach tonics, indigestion remedies, soda, calomel, salts, laxative pills, etc. to try to get rid of indigestion, constipation, bloating, sour stomach, bad breath or headaches. I have told them all to use Sargon Soft Mass Pills, the new liver medicine which makes the liver get busy and furnish enough bile to digest their food and stop constipation. Everybody ought to take Sargon Soft Mass Pills two or three times a month if they want to feel good. All good druggists have them."

WHITHER GOETH HIRAM? WORRIES REPUBLICANS

By THOMAS B. MALARKEY

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 22—(UP)—On the lips of practically every California politician of consequences is the question: What will Hiram do?

There are many things United States Senator Hiram Johnson might do. He might run for reelection as a progressive, as a democrat, or he mgiht not run at all and devote his time to building up his personal fortune.

One of Johnson's closest personal friends—a man powerful politically in his own right—told the United Press it was an odds-on bet the senator would take the most difficult road and fight it out in the 1934 primaries as a republican.

Johnson, this informant pointed out, was never one to sidestep a fight even though his political survival might be at stake. And he would be running away from a battle if he accepted the democrats' invitation to run as their candidate; or even if he bolted his party and ran as a progressive.

True, the senator is naturally considering such alternatives. But, his friends say, when the time comes his pride and fighting instinct will steer him away from the easiest course and compel his to do battle with Ex-Governor Friend W. Richardson or anybody else the conservative members of his own party might choose to put up. In a catch-as-catch-can battle, there are few his equal in the country.

On a simple interruptation of the sales tax—whether it is a retail or consumers levy—depends the loss or retention of several millions in potential revenue.

To make a long story short, "in lieu" clauses in utility, bank and insurance franchise acts would exempt those three business classifications from sales tax payments if the courts ruled the tax was a consumers levy.

Banks, through Edward Elliott, chairman of the bankers' association legislative committee, opened up the question by inquiring what formality the banks must go through to secure exemption. The board tartly replied there was no formality, that the banks would have to pay the tax.

Congressman W. I. Tragger's careful announcement he is "considering" running for the republican gubernatorial nomination, is a distinct break for Governor Rolph.

Here's why. Tragger and Lieutenant Governor Frank Merriam—if he goes through with his candidacy—would split the southern California vote. This split would be accentuated because Traeger has been a wet for years while Merriam has in the past been classed as a dry.

Thus with a split vote in the populous south, Rolph with a strong central and northern California support would be in preferred position to come out ahead.

On the other hand, Rolph's vote might well be split by the candidacies of such strong contenders as Bert Meek, Ex-Governor C. C. Young, Treasurer C. C. Johnson and others.

True facts of the governors illness are just beginning to come to light . . the second day he was in the hospital, his physician practically gave up hope of saving him . . that particular doctor is still wondering how the chief executive pulled through . . .it will be many weeks before Rolph is in fit condition to resume work.

If You Feel Gloomy And Tired--Test This

You can't feel well and strong unless your liver furnishes plenty of fresh bile every day. Without bile food doesn't digest properly—it just ferments and decays—constipation, gas, sour stomach, headaches and nervousness follow.

Don't be misled. Calomel, salts, oils, mineral waters, laxative pills, powders, herb teas, etc., have no effect whatever on the liver. There are only two generally recognized substances which actually cause a sluggish liver to increase its production of bile. Sargon Soft Mass Pills contain both of them.

Unless you have tried Sargon Soft Mass Pills you can have no idea of their effect—

You feel stronger, healthier, happier—life and color return to faded eyes and cheeks—appetite and digestion improve rapidly.

Call a Cop

By Charles Francis Coe
Eminent Criminologist and Author of "Mr. Gangster," "Swag," "Votes" . . . and other startling crime stories.

THE REMEDY FOR IT ALL

ARTICLE No. 3

IN A recent notorious case three grand juries were conducting separate investigations of the same crime. Three prosecutors were seeking solution of the crime and conviction of the same criminal. Three state governments were trying to find what they ought to do about it.

During this time the criminal was living a riotous life on the proceeds of his endeavors. That is not unusual, but it is ridiculous. The cost is beyond all sense and reason. It is as criminal as the crime under investigation.

A man shot a man in New York. He dragged the body to New Jersey and dumped it there. Then he dashed to Delaware to hide out. They found him there. Three investigations were begun to determine what to do with him and where to do it. Two extraditions were necessary to bring the killer to trial. Mounting taxes and infinite delay for offended society!

That is a simple case. Take any three states and counties and the same would be true. All this abets the criminal. He runs to another state solely to accomplish the very delay that accrues.

While juries meditate what to do shyster lawyers produce a habeas corpus and the criminal has flown the coop before there is any legal instrument to hold him. This was all too frequently true when the killing was a gang one and the habeas financed by millions in bootleg money. It is equally all too true that the prosperity and safety of the criminal have been predicated upon his money and its corruptive power. Legal technicalities have served to liberate many a killer, and those technicalities have been discovered and allowed only because of influence.

The connection between the police and the criminal is the most disastrous faced by society. Perfect it and society is utterly defenseless. It has come to its greatest fruition under prohibition because of lack of sympathy for the law and the ease with which millions have trickled into unworthy palms. The criminal always has it on the police who have taken bribes. They have it on prosecutors seeking re-election and judges dependent upon the same thing. It has made a vicious circle.

Well-planned murder is almost impossible to detect and convict. This is due to the planning and the apparent lack of motive in people who had opportunity to kill. We may know the cause and the source of murder but we cannot prove them in court. So murder becomes easy. It was easy because of this connection between the law and the law-breaker. Such connections are inevitable in great cities with laws like prohibition battering at the foundations of honest enforcement.

Now how break up that connection? With bootleggers turned racketeers and kidnapers, how handle them? The kidnaping will die away because no one can protect it long. The racketeering will continue because business finds it cheaper to pay tribute than to risk life and property fighting. Yet we must break up the rackets.

It is my judgment that federal action is the only solution. Uncle Sam with his long arm can reach over extraditions. He can batter down alliance between law and crime. He can step into a city and demand the facts. He can do that because he will not long remain in any one city. Not long enough for his officers to get tangled in the web of dirty money that flows in the urban streets of America. The federal officer may not be more honest inherently than the local one. But he has an esprit de corps which only passing contact with local conditions never can shatter.

I favor a national police force for criminal investigation and prosecution. I feel that the people of the country soon will be forced to demand it. America's great cities have doubled police forces in the last 30 years, and the crime rates have increased twice as much as the police!

I see no need of county governments. They are an expense, a cumbersome method of maintaining political patronage, and generally a hindrance to direct and economical government. Why the city or village should arrest a man for crime, only to have him tried by the county and imprisoned by the state, I shall never understand. If I rely upon political surveys by purveyors of political patronage, of course I might see a good reason for such round-about methods. But I do not rely upon those. That is a political chicanery which long since has perished in the minds of a tax-burdened, crime-ridden people.

If every city in the United States did away with its criminal investigation police and turned that function over to the federal government, I believe crime would be reduced to its minimum in very brief time. If cities handled traffic, protected life and property and policed as the uniformed force generally does, there would be no important corruption. If, when major criminal offenses were recorded in any city, the federal government gave that city three days to apprehend the criminal, then, that failing, took over the investigation itself, there could be no corruption that would revert to destruction of honest investigation and expeditious solution of crime. What is more, I believe that day will come.

The detectives of the United States will be like its soldiers. They will never know their next point of call. They will operate under centralized orders from Washington. They will have at their fingertips a complete international identification bureau. They will use radio, telegraph, telephone, photography, fingerprints, bertillon measurements. Use, in fact, every science known to criminal detection. And they will succeed in their job only as they succeed in the individual tasks of solution laid upon their shoulders. And more than that, they will walk through absurd extradition folderol as a fireman goes through a wisp of smoke.

Crime will be against society, not against a county or a city or a state. Prosecution will be by society, not by a politically-controlled organization dependent for a living upon the votes of a few communities. Crime will be a high menace to the decency of life, the administration of business and the sanctity of the home. It will be treated as such. Then solution will be sure in the vast majority of cases. Then prosecution will be genuine and speedy and efficacious. Then a change of venue will temper justice with mercy and "mercenary" with justice.

Until then the country will stagger along under ever-increasing police and prosecution costs. It will carry the endless burden of county bonds and county taxes. And by every indication, crime will constantly increase. How many of America's great cities are solvent today? Why?

America, with the most outrageous murder rate ever known to a civilized land, is in my judgment, the most law-abiding nation on earth. This is true because America stands for more ridiculous and politican-made laws than any other country. Technical legal expressions are the fruit of legalized law-makers justifying their own existence. They have specialized to such an extent that their complete success is the rout of common equity and average comprehension. Strictly speaking, not a single American is free from the taint of criminal activity.

He may speed in his motor car. A crime! He may not sound his horn. A crime! He may run a wire to light his chicken coop and forget that he should apply for a permit. A crime! I could go on forever.

Millions of laws govern Americans and the greatest of the legal minds have not the slightest idea of most of them, nor their import. A favorite court procedure is to face a situation requiring adjudication, then cast back as far as necessary for a precedent by which to judge it. In this age, when the machine and science and invention have altered the whole course of human life, legal lights frequently cast back for precedent to the judgment of men who never dreamed of a horseless carriage, who read by the light of a tallow candle, bathed in an iron tub, let their teeth decay as the years passed, and because it traveled 25 miles an hour damned the railroad train as a device of the devil for the destruction of man.

This must pass. America will throw off this yoke of archaic habit. The people, fed up with Main street murders, idiotic legal subterfuges and outright corruption, will assert themselves. They will put a direct question. They will want and they will get a direct answer.

You will be entirely safe in the prognostication that when they do get it it will come from one no less than Uncle Sam himself. When the beard of that gentleman bristles with indignation and his mighty biceps writhe for a whack at the desperado who is the national problem and the international disgrace, things will happen. Not until then!

Scotland Yard offers a lot America can learn. Half as efficient as the New York police, it is twice as effective. Mussolini offers a ponderable thought to Americans. Undertaking government when his country was crime-ridden and virtually hopeless of deliverance, he has cleaned it up, polished it, renewed its public pride. He offers it as a sample of what centralized power can do when it comes to decapitating a monster spawned in ignorance, nurtured on the milk of murder, trained to the brass knuckle and the blackjack, and fattened upon the lethargic and somewhat hopeless incomprehension of a great people with too much faith in those who have usurped the powers of their local governing functions.

Call a cop! Call a cop by all means. But may God grant that he will, figuratively, wear striped trousers, a spangled coat, a flaring plug hat and a flowing beard. Then he will be the cop who will spell deliverance for American business and home life. He will be Uncle Sam.

Short-Term Senator

The membership of the senate is divided into thirds so that one-third expires every two years. When a senator dies or resigns leaving an unexpired term, his successor is appointed or elected only for the remainder of the term. This is referred to as a short term. Sometimes it may happen that at the November election a candidate is running for election for the short term which would have lasted until inauguration day, and either he or some other candidate would be running for the long term which would last for six years beginning with the following term.

C. C. C. BOYS CUT AREA DESTROYED BY FIRE 42 PCT.

Supplementing the reports from Major General Malin S. Craig, commander of the 9th Army Corps Area, on the health and morale of the C. C. C. boys in California is the report issued today by Regional Forester S. B. Show on their work under Forest Service superintendents and foremen in the national forests of the state.

As a result of putting in 21,907 "he-man" days fighting fire in August, the 25,000 C. C. C. boys in the California national forests reduced the acreage burned from 11,037 to 64,507 acres and the cost of fire fighting from $280,025 to $38,614, compared with the five year average for the seasonal forest service record to date.

This reduction of over 85 per cent in costs of fire fighting and of 42 per cent in acreage burned was incidental to the construction and maintenance thus far of 621 miles of forest roads, 1,010 miles of 9-foot truck trails, 1,054 miles of telephone lines, and 374 miles of firebacks in the national forests. In addition, the enrollees have covered 185,169 acres in rodent control, 41,912 acres in insect control, built 2 airports, 198 buildings, 4 erosion control dams, 46 bridges, 77 miles of drift fences, and reduced fire hazards on 700 miles of roads and trails and 14,071 acres, besides doing other odd jobs such as developing 117 water sources, laying nearly 5 miles of pipe line and eradicating over a million plants which carry the white pine blister rust disease.

Money put into circulation monthly as a result of the 167 C. C. C. camps in California is estimated by forest service officials to be $400,000 for food supplies, $220,000 returned by California boys to dependent families, $150,000 spent by 37,000 members. The cost of tools and equipment to date is approximately $1,000,000.

WITH THE LIGHT IN YOUR HOME!

COMFORT is one of the most important things in your home. One of the greatest aids to home comfort is good lighting. The hours when light is needed in the home are relaxation hours. After work, after dinner, are the restful hours that demand good lighting.

Reading or sewing in light that is not adequate causes eye-strain and bodily fatigue. Headaches and nervous attacks often result from the strain that is put on eyes in poor light.

Be sure in the few short hours each night when you use light that it is good light, comfortable to the eyes. Do not bargain with your lighting. When you do, you gamble with health and comfortable living.

Make sure your home is comfortably lighted before the shorter days of winter arrive. Lighting conditions that make for discomfort often grow in a home as the years go by. FEDERAL LOANS TO FARMERS ARE MADE AVAILABLE

By RALPH H. TAYLOR

EDITOR'S NOTE: Many millions of dollars will be loaned to California farmers by federal agencies in the next year to aid in agricultural recovery. Thousands of California farmers are asking: "How can I get a loan?" Ralph H. Taylor spent three days with Henry Morgenthau, Jr., head of the federal Farm Credit Administration, and his close associates, studying the program and getting the answer. He will outline the operation of the credit plan for California farmers in three articles, of which this is the first. The second article will appear next week.

If you have at least a 50:50 chance of making good, your credit is good—with Uncle Sam!

That reassuring messeage to California farmers, carrying promise of re-financing and rehabilitation for thousands of producers, now struggling for a new foothold, was brought to California by Henry Morgenthau, Jr., dynamic governor of the Farm Credit Administration in Washington.

Here to launch the new farm credit ste-up for this district, which will be one of twelve units in the United States, Morgenthau made it plain that the federal government is not indulging in free-handed charity, but hopes to help the farmer back on his feet with a liberal and yet sensible loan policy.

And the better the farmer's chances of climbing back to solidarity, the better his credit.

Only certain types of credit—mainly the "commissioner loan," designed to meet emergency conditions and save thousands of small farmers from going to the wall—will be available to the man with as little as a 50:50 chance to pay out. These loans, most recent and most liberal addition to the farm credit program, will be limited in amount to $5000 each. But they'll bring assistance to many farmers heretofore ineligible for federal credit.

Some indication of the very substantial relief which the federal program means to California agriculture is given by the announcement that the Farm Credit Administration plans to loan at the rate of $2,000,000 per month in this district, which includes California, Utah, Nevada and Arizona, Ninety per cent of the applications for loans, thus far, are from California.

With all farm loan agencies of the federal government merged into one, the Farm Credit Administration, the general structure of the credit plan is as follows:

1. The Federal Land Bank, which will continue to require a large measure of security. These loans are financed by bonds and the ability of the Federal Land Bank to float the bonds—and thereby carry on its work—is predicated on giving the investing public first class security. The federal government, in this instance, does not loan money, but merely its credit. Loans cannot be made for more than 50 per cent of the value of the property involved.

2. Production Credit Corporation which specilizes in shorter-term loans to finance planting and harvesting. Funds for these loans will be secured by rediscounting with the Federal Intermediate Credit Bank, which issues debentures against such paper. The loans, therefore, must be on the same conservative basis as the Land Bank loans. Here, too, the borrower must take stock in the local Production Credit Corporation to the amount of 5 per cent of his borrowings.

3. The new "commissioner loans," for which Congress appropriated $200,000,000, designed to save farmers from losing their farms and not subject to the strict limitations of the other credit facilities. These are outright loans of cash by the federal government (not subject to bond financing and can be made up to 75 per cent of the valuation of the farm, together with its improvements quipment and personal property connected with the farm enterprise.

On "commissioner loans," according to Morgenthau, the federal government is willing to take a 50:50 chance—desirous, above all else, of extending aid to farmers who need it badly and who cannot secure it from any other channel. But these loans, as previously stated, are limited to $500.

In re-financing many farms, it was indicated, the Federal Land Bank will make the loan for the major share, taking a first mortgage on the property. The "commissioner loan" may then be made in addition, taking a second mortgage and loaning, in all, up to 75 per cent of valuation.

Al though the permanent headquarters of the Farm Credit Administration have yet to be established in California, Morgenthau said that the farmers can secure necessary information, or file applications, at the Federal Land Bank in Berkeley.

JOHNSON FLAYS SPOILS SYSTEM

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 22—(UP)—Compete abolition of the present cabinet form of government and substitution of a state board of control comprising elective state officials to manage the state's fiscal affairs were urged here today by State Treasurer Charles G. Johnson. Elimination of the state department of finance would be the first step in his projected program.

"Our state government is honeycombed with expensive and useless boards and divisions and bureaus, all of them creatures of the destructive political spoils system," he said. "It is no wonder our taxpayers stand almost at the very threshold of open revolt. It is no wonder we are now struggling with a state deficit of many millions of dollars.

PEOPLE'S MONEY WASTED

"To my mind, it is time to call a definite halt to this reckless and wanton expenditure of the people's money. It is time for the masses to arouse themselves and stamp out this arrogant bureaucracy which has been built up to gigantic proportions by the political spoils system over a period of years.

"Millions of dollars a year can and should be saved to our taxpayers through the application of sound business principles in the operation of our state government. We must get back to the fundamentals of government as contemplated by those who framed our constitution. The only alternative is long years of continued financial stress.

STATE GROUP TO CONTROL FINANCES

"The affairs of state should be under the direct supervision and guidance of a state board of control composed of the governor, the lieutenant governor, secretary of state, state controller, state treasurer, chairman of the state board of equalization and attorney general. All of these are active state officials, elected by the people and answerable to the people. They should have equal voice in the operation of every branch of state government.

"First and foremost in these contemplated reforms would be the elimination of the state department of finance. There is not now one service conducted by this department with its biennial appropriation of approximately a million dollars, which could not and should not be performed by the constitutional officers elected by the people. The head of this department is a political appointee of the governor, and yet he is given autocratic powers second to none in the state government. His salary of $10,000 a year is double that of the secretary of state, state controller and state treasurer. Official records disclose there are even clerks and attaches in the department of finance who are now receiving salaries in excess of those authorized for elected state officials.

SPOILS SYSTEM EXPENSIVE

"Under the present political spoils system, the biennial budget is prepared by the director of finance and under the supervision and direction of the governor. Salaries and other expenses of a vast multitude of state workers are fixed at the whim of the governor and his political appointee, the finance director, with political preferment always uppermost under our present spoils system.

"I would substitute a state budget officer working under the direct superision of the state board of control. This would place full responsibility upon those officials elected by the people. The consequent savings would be tremendous.

"There are countless other departments and divisions and bureaus which could and should be eliminated if the people of this state want honesty and efficiency to supercede the present wasteful political patronage.

REFORMS DEMANDED

"So far as our national affairs are concerned, we have all subscribed to the "New Deal." As a united people we have joined together with our president to fight our way back to economic independence. Californians next year will have the opportunity to effect needed reforms in state government. It is not too early now to study these problems and to arouse the public consciousness to the dangers of the political spoils which is fast under-mining the structure of state government.

HUGE QUARTZ NUGGET FOUND ON QUEEN RAD

The large nugget of unusual high grade picture variety, uncovered recently near Kanaka creek bridge, just south of Alleghany, was a quartz specimen of approximately 44 ounces and not a placer specimen as at first reported.

The property on which the rich specimen was found, was the Queen Radigunde, generally known as the Queen Rad mine, which is bounded by Sixteen to One, Ophir, Twenty One, Rainbow Extension and Mariposa mines. The Queen Radigunde belongs to Mrs. Elonore E. Hoeft De Wein of this city.
